

The Skagit Immigrant Rights Council & the Skagit Human Rights Festival present the Washington State premiere of

Sunday, March 14th, 2010, 3 PM

Historic Lincoln Theatre

712 S. First Street, Mount Vernon, Washington

www.lincolnthatre.org; 360-336-8955

Film primarily in Spanish with English subtitles, interpretation into Spanish for panel discussion.

Tickets $5 ($3 K-12 students) – available at the door

The Other Side of Immigration examines the causes and effects of international migration. The film provides audiences a fresh perspective on undocumented Mexican immigration and creative proposals for managing the phenomenon more effectively. The power of the film emerges from the seldom-heard and deeply resonant voices of Mexicans living with the effects of immigration policy, NAFTA, Mexican agricultural policies, and Mexican politics.

Do you want to understand your immigrant neighbor, students, consumers, and the complexities of immigration? How does this effect and relate to our everyday life, economy, laws, and taxes? Come hear their stories and listen to our panel of experts.

Panel members:

Pramila Jayapal, Exec Director of OneAmerica; Jorge Barón, Exec. Director of Northwest Immigrant Rights Project; Henry Cruz, former Commissioner for Hispanic Affairs; Sally Hintz, NW Director for Senator Maria Cantwell; José Ortiz, Pastoral Associate for Hispanic Youth, Skagit Valley Catholic Churches